

The Life of Ian Larsen Gromowski

Happy May to everyone!

A couple of months ago Jenny McCarthy and Stan Kurtz (www.stankurtz.com) of Generation Rescue (www.generationrescue.org) called me. We discussed Jim Carrey speaking about Ian on the Larry King Live show. Although Jim did not get that chance to discuss Ian, the show was fantastic. Dr. Healy, the former Director of National Institute of Health, said, "Listen to the patients and the patients will teach...I think there is an inexcusable issue, and that's the lack of research that's been done here...A parent can legitimately question giving a one-day old baby, or a two-day old baby [the] Hepatitis B vaccine that has no risk for it [and] the mother has no risk for it. That's a heavy-duty vaccine given on day two [of life]. I think those are legitimate questions." POWERFUL!

You may question why Jenny is interested in Ian's story. Jenny and I have something in common, we want to 'green our vaccines' and lessen the amount children receive.... 'too many, too soon'! I also want to set the record straight...I have heard this directly from Jenny herself, SHE IS NOT AGAINST VACCINES and neither am I. We understand the importance! If you take a look at this graph http://iansvoice.org/Documents/Are_We_Poisoning_Our_Kids.pdf it shows how the 1983 vaccine schedule had 10 vaccines and the 2008 vaccine schedule has 36 vaccines!! Vaccines contain mercury, ether, aluminum, baker's yeast, and the list goes on.... Do you see why we are concerned?

Anyway....since Jenny and Stan had initially contacted me we have kept in touch. Then... Jenny and Stan invited Scott and I to Generation Rescue in Los Angeles, CA to film Ian's story. So off we went to LA and we returned a week ago today. It was an amazing experience. Stan interviewed us for 4 hours and it was emotionally exhausting but very therapeutic for us. We met and talked with Jenny. We also met her son Evan and Stan's son Ethan. Both Evan and Ethan have recovered from autism....both very amazing and typical children. We toured Generation Rescue and Jenny's school she has for autistic children. We spent 2 days with everyone there and learned/shared so much. They are all like family. Below are some photos (and you can view all photos from our visit to Generation Rescue at <http://cid-793b51e4df145782.skydrive.live.com/browse.aspx/Media%20and%20Autism%20Events>):
